Teeth & Mouth are the source of Health & Energy

Dental and Oral Health Week June 4th to 10th

Teeth and mouth are essential not only for chewing food and the intake, but also to enjoy the taste, talk, make facial expressions and live healthy and lively.

Let's make it a habit to care the oral cavity and receive a dental checkup periodically.

Points to prevent caries and periodontal diseases which are main causes of losing teeth

-Brush your teeth after eating

Toothbrushing within 30 minutes after meals can suppress the growth of tooth decay bacteria.

-Brush more carefully before going to bed

The bacteria is more active during the sleeping time in which saliva secretion is reduced.

Practice a thorough toothbrushing before going to bed in order to reduce the quantity of the bacteria.

-Don't eat snacks or sweets many times a day

The more often you eat snacks, the more active the bacteria that cause tooth decay become in your mouth. If you eat a snack at the time and quantity decided, you can control the bacteria.

-Make the teeth strong by fluoride

Fluoride toothpaste is expected to make the dental quality strong and to suppress the bacterial growth.

-Periodic dental checkup

Periodic dental checkup can lead to early detection of caries and periodontitis, and you can learn how to brush your teeth correctly.

-Periodontal disease increases from the age of 30

We provide periodontal disease screening for people between 30 and 70 years old.

Periodontal disease screening (歯周疾患検診)

SHISHUU SHIKKAN KENSHIN

Eligible: Between 30 and 70 years old who are NOT currently receiving any dental treatments

Screening: Checkup on teeth and gums conditions with dental consultation and X ray of teeth

How to apply: Please apply directly to a designated dental clinic.

※ For further information, see page 25 of the Health and Medical Checkup Calendar
